A SUNDAY SHOOTING SCRAPE MAY END IN ANOTHER MURDER.

Italians Start After Slovaks and After Beating Them With Clubs Shot One Man in Abdomen.

WOUNDED MAN WALKED A MILE

After He Had Been Shot—County Detective Alex McBeth and the State Constables May Make An Arrest This Afternoon

Another shooting scrape occurred in the Connellville region yesterday afternoon that may result in murder. As a consequence of it the Slovaks of that neighborhood are becoming greatly alarmed and many are afraid to venture out after dark alone. They are it is said, being made victims of Italian, Slovak and but white men.

At dusk last evening Peter and John Kovatsch were held up by a party of Slovaks along the public road between Dunbar and Connellville. The Slovaks were on their way home when at Connellville.

Without provocation it is alleged that the Slovaks started after them using their fists, pick handles and any other weapons that came handy. The brothers broke away and started to run when one of the men drew a revolver and shot after them five or six times. One of the bullets caught Peter Kovatsch in the abdomen, inflicting a serious wound.

Peter managed to walk to his home, a distance of nearly a mile but was in bad shape when he got there. His condition is serious. The matter was reported to the Connellville police and to the State Constables, which sent to the scene and made an investigation. This brought no results. This afternoon County Detective McBeth and the State Constables will look out for the case again. The Slovaks were not recognized by the Kovatsch brothers.

SAWED CELL BARS.

Two Prisoners in Uniontown Jail Had Planned to Make Their Escape Saturday Night

UNIONTOWN, Nov. 18—A daring attempt at jail breaking was discovered in the county jail on Saturday night by Sheriff M. A. Kiefer. The bars of one of the cells had been sawed almost completely away and it is thought that the escape is most likely to be made at night. The work was done by two prisoners, but little more work was necessary before the job would have been completed.

What the fate of the prisoners was to be could not be ascertained once they were in the corridors and how they procured the necessary tools for the work when they had it ready does remain a mystery which the sheriff is endeavoring to solve.

When the jail was breaking, his final inspection of the jail Saturday night at 11 o'clock his attention was caught by some unusual appearance in the bars of one of the cells. Looking closer he discovered that the bars had been sawed and that the prisoners had been actively filing with soap to the defects.

Culling a deputy he roused the two prisoners in the cell who either were sleeping or were pretending to sleep. They were J. I. Johnson and C. W. Guthrie. Johnson had been in jail for about two months, having been committed from Brownsville on a serious charge which is elapsed among the felonies.

Removing the men at once they were subjected to a rigid search and then placed in another cell. Nothing was found on either of them or in the cell they had occupied with which the bars could have been sawed, but the sheriff declares that the matter is not yet ended as he will continue the investigation until he discovers how the scheme was engineered.

ALL ARRANGEMENTS ARE MADE.

Works Will Be Located Along Dunbar Creek About Three Miles Above the Town—Extension of New Haven & Dunbar Railroad Provided.

Vast deposits of cement stone located along the creek about three miles above Dunbar are to be developed by a Pittsburg corporation capitalized at $500,000. The Pittsburg Cement Company has been incorporated for this purpose and the arrangements have been made with the Dunbar Furnace Company that this work may go ahead. These deposits are owned by the Pittsburg company, which has given a 15 year lease on five acres of land to the new corporation. The stone crops out about 100 feet from the proposed location of the plant, near the first dam on Dunbar creek.

This stone is of such quality as to assure the production of a first-class cement. The plant will be modern in all its details and will be operated on a large scale, giving employment to a great number of men.

In this connection the Dunbar Furnace Company is already making arrangements to extend the line of the New Haven & Dunbar railroad up the creek to the new works. At the same time a number of sidings will be put in to handle the lumber trade of that part of Dunbar and Stewart townships, where developments along this line are now being made.

MULHORN HAD THE TIME.

William Mullinson Had His Nose Broken in Football Game Saturday, But Went Back Into the Battle.

SCOTSDALE, Nov. 18.—The shoot held under the auspices of the Scottdale Rifle Club on the range near the Campbell slaughter house, on Anderson Run, was a great success on Saturday afternoon. There were 15 of the Knights of the Rifle entered in the contests for the ducks and chickens that were put up as prizes. The old scout, Joseph Hoffmeyer, shone with his usual pristine glory as an expert handler of the rifle and secured two chickens and two ducks as a result of his skill with the rifle. John Mulhorn took a lead and bagged three ducks and two chickens, making the best record of the day. Billy Chalmers bagged four ducks with his trusty rifle and Harry White took in a duck and a pair of chickens. The rest of the shooters either failed to connect with the target or took but one piece of game.

There is a hunting party opening up in the country about Donagel today, having gone over from Scottdale last night. In the bunch are Patrick Maloy, Israel Shaffer, John Mulhorn, E. H. Knapp and Norman Graft. All are capable shooters and they ought to bring back a nice array of game. The weather works were very kind to the people on Sunday by giving them a very nice piece of weather that gave an opportunity of getting out and viewing the autumn landscape. The first on Saturday night had almost the thickness of snow and was a marvelous imitation of real fall weather, if not the genuine article.

Saturday night was a quiet one in police circles, the people apparently having only a trifling amount of real money to spend upon that which fills with joy sometimes to the edge of indecision and leads to the lockup. Only a pair of prisoners was in, both negroes, one for splitting on the pavement and the other for being soured with liquor. They had to remain in detention until the morning to be paid their way to liberty.

The school children felt no tightening of currency on Saturday, for all did a great business, the streets in front of them being crowded with those waiting until some influence would get out so they could get in.

The Town Council meets tonight to purchase 1,050 feet, more or less, of fire hose. For several days the hose companies have been having their representatives on the ground, trying to land the members of Council on what kind of hose they are going to buy. Thus far they have had no one to give them encouragement. It is the custom of Council to buy as a body and have the Burgess meet with them.

The football game on Saturday between the Scottdale and Uniontown High Schools was quite a sanguinary affair, although neither side made a score. William Mullinson had his nose broken in the first half, went to a doctor, had the injured proboscis fixed up and then finished the game, although he was suffering greatly from his hit. Scottdale should have scored at least once, when the crowd could not get back quickly enough from the field to give them the opportunity of getting along. It was the usual style of Scottdale crowding the field, a custom that has existed here for years, and which prevented the home team from scoring. The crowd is a content to allow the teams to play the game, but must try to get on the field themselves.

F. B. Williams, the evangelist, had a great meeting for men at the Goyer House on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Graft of near town entertained a large number of friends at their home on Friday evening.

Mrs. David Laling and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Laling, of Owensville, have been spending several days visiting the former's son, David Laling, of Outcrop.

YEGG MAN'S HARD LUCK.

Released From Prison Today and Will Be Immediately Arrested.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 18.—(Special.)—When James Lang, alias "Black Billy," one of the most dangerous and most notorious yegg men in the United States is released from the Federal prison here tomorrow, he will be immediately arrested and taken to North Carolina to stand trial for helping to blow the safe of the Bank of Davis at Mocksville.

The authorities claim to have a good case against him for the North Carolina job, and the probabilities are that a long prison sentence will follow his conviction. Lang comes originally from New York; but it was in the South that he and his gang conducted their most extensive operations.

THE OLD AND NEW WAY.

Some Important Facts Which May Prove Helpful.

Thirty years ago old fashioned cod liver oil had to be forced down a patient's throat. Invalids wouldn't take it, and children wouldn't. But the doctors prescribed it, and it had to be taken by force. Yet it cured people where enough could be taken into the system, for it has ever been the greatest of all human builders and general reconstructors known to medicine.

We are now anxious to have everyone know that Vitrol is a new form of this very old and valuable remedy, containing in a concentrated form all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but by an extractive and concentrating process it is made without oil or grease, and it is as delicious to the taste as a fresh orange.

Vitrol does not upset the stomach like old fashioned cod liver oil and emulsion. Its strengthening and healing properties are remarkable, and both doctors and patients are delighted with its action.

Many wonderful cures right here in Connelleville have been effected by its use, and we ask our customers to try Vitrol on our guarantee to return money every time it fails to make rich, red blood, increase the appetite, cure stomach troubles, give strength and renewed vitality to the aged, run down, tired and debilitated, or cure chronic colds, hacking coughs, or bronchitis. WHITE PINE TIMBER ABOUT DENUED.

Forests That Gave United States Its Rank Almost Exhausted.

CHAPLAIN OF SENATE'S VIEWS.

Deplores the Passing of the White Pine as Our Foremost Wood-Production Has Shifted From New England to the Lake States.

Special to Sunday Courier.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—The position which the United States has held as a lumber-producing nation has, perhaps, been due more to white pine than to any other wood. The timber of this valuable tree, which has played a most important part in the material development of the nation, is fast disappearing, and now it is as costly as the finest American hard woods.

Rev. Edward Everett Hale, the Chaplain of the Senate, who has always taken a keen interest in forestry, deplores the passing of white pine as our foremost wood, and tells how in his own lifetime he has seen the day when "the masts of every vessel that sailed the Seven Seas were made from New England grown pine, while today very little white pine is grown in New England big enough to furnish a good sized spar." He tells also, to illustrate the increasing cost of the wood, that he ordered a set of book shelves on which the cabinet maker made a price, and then asked whether they should be of mahogany or white pine. The white pine production has shifted from New England to the lake States, and Michigan was the leading lumber-producing State for 21 years, from 1870 to 1890, with a supremacy based on white pine. In these two decades the cut was 160 billions of board feet, valued at the point of production, at not less than two billions of dollars, or nearly half as much again as the value derived from all the gold fields of California from their discovery in the late forties until the present. The rich forests of Michigan were once thought inexhaustible, and lumbering continued in a most reckless manner for years. Suddenly the people awoke to the fact that the thoughtless destruction of the trees had thrown 6,000,000 acres on the desolate, treeless, and treeless hills.

These white pine harvests point to the terrible penalty of wasting the forest resources which should have been the heritage of all future generations.

An idea of the increasing scarcity of white pine timber is given by the New York L. & S. quotations, on a basis of car load lots: "Uppers" of the best grade cost $37 to $114 a thousand board feet, and the "selects," or the next lower grade, cost $37.50 to $49.50. Men who are not yet middle aged remember the time when these grades could be purchased at $15 to $25 a thousand feet. The present quotations on quartered white oak, which are $75 to $90, offer another basis of comparison which indicates the condition of the market for white pine.

The best stands of this timber now in this country are in scattered sections in Minnesota, New England and parts of Idaho. The species in Idaho is sometimes called silver pine. Some of the country's best white pine is found on the Indian reservations in Minnesota and Wisconsin and scattered stands are found in the States of Wyoming, Montana, Colorado and one or two other States. At the present rate of cutting the tree will soon be a thing of the past. The small stands in the National Forests are inconsiderable, but they will be managed with the greatest conservatism by the government through the forest service, and through this method and practice of reforestation it may be hoped that the fine old tree will furnish timber for other generations.

WALKING MATCH.

Pedestrians Begin Their Long Grind at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 10.—(Special.)—That the old time sport of pedestrianism is again to become popular is indicated by the lively interest manifested in the six-day walking match, which begins in Music Hall tonight.

The contestants will be Henry Schmied of Chicago and the veteran Dan O'Leary of this city, who is now in his 67th year. The men are to walk 124 hours in all, square heel and toe, for $1,000 a side and two-thirds of the gate receipts.

A. A. U. Annual Gathering. NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(Special.)—The Amateur Athletic Union began its annual meeting at the Grand Union Hotel today, in addition to settling many troublesome questions that are pending, President James E. Sullivan will probably bring up the question of the British Olympic games. There is said to be little possibility of any contest for the leading positions on the National Amateur Athletic Union Board.

The Difference in Shoes.
Isn't a matter of luck—yet our shoes bring good luck. The difference begins though in the turning and then through the designing, the cutting, lasting and all the details of manufacture—everything must be done just to meet our exacting requirements. Now what does this mean to you? An opportunity to select shoes of style, shoes of comfort, shoes that will wear at lowest possible prices, shoes that deserve good luck. Why not come in today.
JOHN IRWIN.

WHILE dressing for dinner after a delightful afternoon at the Harriet Lawrence Richard school, his first lesson in modern English history, the comedy The well trained Bills attempted to take full charge of the toilet but the new master put his foot down firmly.

"Bills" he said "just about eighteen years ago if I remember right my name came to the conclusion that I absolutely did not wish to go into my profession, which was the law, since the conditions remain unchanged. I said so and took to me about London.

Graciously availing himself of the edge of the razor, in the account of this condition of the law, he said that he had made an account of his master's demands for the past three years. On the whole, the story was interesting to a member of the society, notwithstanding that Bills was a representative of a phase, inwardly he enjoyed his own toilet hugely.

He was so down here and so glad to have the opportunity of having bare his private opinions of his bilious master.

"Luph" grunted Richard as he tried one of Lord Crowlands' dinner plates, "I am responsible for three of the stanglements and one of which I still wear honorable scars, that part of it I'm a secker of information only.

Bills looked at the information he gave on his scars, on the last time he was a shrewd mind and his knowledge of the requirements of the school's enabled him to give valuable information to the school's.

Normally, the Strud and the Hyde park, the fashionable set also had two or two and various prominent English people likely to be mentioned in general conversation.

Richard was possessed of a retentive memory which he now stored full of odds and ends which would help him ~~over~~ muster provided of course he did not run foul of the military in which case he shuddered to think of the possibilities. His alleged sojourn in the United States especially his winter in Texas accounted for a number of occasional slips but even with this in his favor the position was a taxing one.

There was his own feature of the enigma which troubled him solely. It was comparatively new to him to seem to vacillate a joke and to interpret a small talk with a few words of conversation in a British drawl; but when he looked into the eyes of the woman who he loved, he longed with all his heart to be for the first time an American. He sighed "the stupor of the wide free plains" to a railing with the words "across the prairie" to speak to her in his natural native tongue and to tell her he loved her as he loved his home.

"Woosley," he sighed, and it amused him to notice how the plot reacted in the use of his Christian name. "I'm afraid, after all I shall have to ask you to do the next thing. The ones who at home were truly made and made be clucked in properly with a practical bluck at the back."

The valet deftly adjusted the bow on the dinner suit to which the mistress of the house had just returned.

"My lord," observed Billie surveying the young man, "I shall be glad to charge with an expert's eye on your lordship's pardon for pressing to mention it there—the other were looked you 're so convinced,"

"Thank you, carmine!"

"Thank you, sir, and I ain't no judge. I think do not think so too badly wheeled upon him sharply last night."

"What lady?"

"Miss Kenney," sir, the lady's clerk me."

"Right then," commanded Richard early. "There are certain sub-

BOND SALE ORDERED.

National Treasury Offer $50,000,000 Panama Issue as Basis for Circulation.

TO RELIEVE MONEY STRINGENCY

In Addition Secretary Cortelyou is Authorized to Issue Certificates of Indebtedness to the Amount of $100,000,000 if Necessary.

Washington, Nov. 18. — Secretary Cortelyou has made the important announcement that as a means of affording relief to the financial situation the treasury would issue $50,000,000 of Panama bonds and $100,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness or so much thereof as may be necessary. The certificates will run for one year and will bear 3 per cent interest.

The secretary's action in coming to the relief of the financial situation meets with President Roosevelt's hearty approval and the plan is the outcome of the several white house conferences. The Panama bonds will afford most substantial relief as the law provides that they may be used as a basis for additional national bank circulation. He also states that the proceeds from the sale of certificates can be made directly available at points where the need is most urgent and especially for the movement of the crops, which, he says, "If properly accelerated will give the greatest relief and result in the most immediate financial recovery." The secretary calls attention to the attractiveness of the bonds and certificates as absolutely safe investments.

Secretary Cortelyou adds that these relief measures will enable him to meet public expenditures without withdrawing for that purpose any appreciable amount of the public moneys now deposited in national banks. Two treasury circulars, one having to do with the issue of bonds and the other asking bids for the certificates, will be sent out under date of December 18.

In his letter to Secretary Cortelyou approving the treasury plans President Roosevelt states that he has been assured that the leaders in congress have under consideration a currency measure "which will meet in permanent fashion the needs of the situation and which I believe will be passed at an early date after congress convenes two weeks hence." The president also calls attention to what is needed now at this time is that the people should "realize how fundamentally sound business conditions in this country are and how good it is to permit themselves to get into a panic and create a stringency by hoarding their savings instead of trusting perfectly sound banks."

CORTELYOU GETS CREDIT.

For Discovering Unused Portion of War Revenue Law.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. — (Special.) Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou is being given credit for the discovery of that unused provision of the war revenue law of June 12, 1934, which will enable the floating of a maximum of $100,000,000 in 2 per cent certificates of indebtedness.

The proceeds of this issue will be deposited in the National banks of the South and West to move cargo. The bond issue is expected to be in certificate form and the promise to meet a ready response will place financial conditions in a normal state. The proceeds of the Panama Canal bonds will be used to reimburse the working balance in the Treasury and if the entire $50,000,000 is subscribed it will be possible to put out a large portion of this amount where it will do the most good.

REPORTER ON STAND.

Says Mrs. Bradley Acted Queerly But Doesn't Believe Her Insane.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. — (Special.) When the trial of Mrs. Anna Bradley was resumed this morning, Reporter James Cottrell testified that he interviewed the defendant after the shooting. She acted queerly, he said.

Reporter Cottrell was hard pressed on cross examination. He admitted he did not believe the defendant insane. Cottrell testified that Mrs. Bradley said after the shooting, "I abhor things of this sort but it was justifiable. I asked him if he meant to do a right thing by me. Instead of answering he put on his coat and started to leave the room. Then I shot him."

MORE LIBERAL POLICY

Toward Corporations By Administration Is Indicated.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. — (Special.) — Announcement over Sunday of the action of the Administration authorizing the issue of $100,000,000 of bonds on conditions calculated to give speedy relief to the money market is construed as indicating a more liberal policy toward corporations.

Advances in the stock market during the first hour ranged from one to four points. Government bonds were unchanged and other bonds irregular.

You may pay more but you can't get it any better. And you may pay less but you take most chances. It is no fun to go hunting for a bargain when you want a prescription put up. This is no a bargain either drug store. No charge. A fair price for the best it is possible to obtain.
